Grand Jury Returns 12 Indictments

State To Expand School Program

A new statewide program which will put some high school vocational students into community college classrooms beginning September 1 received the official go-ahead from the State Board of Education in Austin last week and is being examined by Cameron school officials for application locally.

The plan, authorized by the 61st Legislature, will open community colleges such as Temple Junior College and TSTI in Waco to younger students who cannot receive the skill - developing courses in their home school districts.

CISD Supt. D. R. Dodson said this week that they will be looking into applying the program locally but will not have it in operation when school opens.

"We have no way of determining what courses our students would be interested in or how many would be interested in the program at this time," Dodson said. "But we will be looking into it (the program) and possibly could have it set up by mid-term."

James Haynie, TEA assistant director explained that the new program was designed principally for school districts like those in Milam County that cannot afford the vocational laboratories and equipment, either because they don't have the money or the necessary number of students to support the highly technical programs.

"Under this new approach, several school districts might contract with one community college for a full class in a specific vocation -- with only a few students drawn from each secondary school," Haynie said.

Applications for approval now coming into the Agency Department of Occupational Education and Technology offer a preliminary indication of how the plan may work. Lee College in Baytown, for example, will be asked by five different school districts to open classes in radio-television repair, machine shop, offset printing, welding data processing, automotive mechanics, and electronics to the high school students.

The program will be supported by the School Foundation Program. The state will pay the local school district $264 per student per year.

SERVICE HELD FOR A. KUTNAK

Albert Kutnak, 77, died at 8 p.m. Thursday in a Cameron hospital.

Mr. Kutnak was born December 12, 1892 in Europe and had lived in Milam County for the past 50 years. A retired farmer, he lived at 1604 W. 6th St.

Funeral services were 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Monica Catholic Church, Rev. John Geiser and Rev. Emilian Foltyn officiating. Burial was in St. Monica Cemetery.

He is survived by nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were George Hosch, Matt Zarosky, Sr., Johnnie Plsek, Henry Schattle, Milush Valka, Arnold Scholz.

5 Charged In Area Robberies

A Milam County Grand Jury heard 13 witnesses in 12 charges Wednesday, returning 12 indictments.

Indictments included charges of robbery and receiving stolen property resulting from the break-in at Western Auto Store January 18, and the assault and robbery of an individual on March 14th by three youths.

Grand Jurors for the May term which met Wednesday were: Lonnie Box of Thorndale, foreman, Don Edmonds, Cameron, secretary, R. H. (Bob) Foster of Branchville, D. C. Drummond of Sharp, P. F. Shine of Conoley, Alex Black of Rockdale, Freddie Gray of Rockdale, T. E. Martin of Rockdale and C. W. Talbot of Milano.

Indictments were:

James William Riley and Joseph Albert Dale of San Antonio, felony theft at Thorndale on March 30.

Joe Romine of Rockdale, swindle with worthless check, February 3 at Cameron.

Jasper Lee Pinkston of Cameron, assault with intent to murder, April 11 in Cameron.

A. L. Stone of Navasota, forgery and passing a forged instrument, January 19 in Fort Worth.

Two-Vehicle Accident Injures Six

Six farm laborers were injured late Thursday afternoon when the pickup in which they were riding was struck in the rear by a car.

The accident happened about 3 1/2 miles east of Maysfield on Highway 190 at 6:30 p.m.

Investigating DPS Patrolman Robert Eason said both vehicles were traveling east. The pickup, driven by Joe Pagach of Rt. 4, Cameron, had a total of 11 people in it. Eason said Pagach was taking the laborers to their homes in Calvert when the accident happened.

Driver of the car, Theodore Balboa Jr. of Cameron, was not injured, Eason said.

The injured were taken to a Hearne hospital. One woman was later transferred to Scott and White at Temple. Extent of their injuries was not known.

The population explosion is generating a lot of programs and proposals for birth control measures, surely a solution if people, the distressing poor in India, for example, could accept them.

But a new birth control program is proposed for animals.

Pennsylvania Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is requiring persons who adopt female dogs and cats to have the animals "spayed", starting Monday.

Pennsylvania authorities, according to a news report, are requiring a $20 deposit by the adopting persons and are refunding $15 when a certificate showing the female dog or cat has been spayed.

The SPCA is placing about 1,000 animals a month in new homes, but cannot keep pace with influx of stray and unwanted animals.

This perhaps is a solution to the current abundance of cats brought up in a recent City Council meeting and a frequent problem of too many stray dogs.

The alternative is destruction of the unwanted animals by SPCA direction, whether well, sick or ill tempered.

NOW-NOW-NOW

We thought we were only in competition with other people for breathing smog-filled air. And now we learn about 10,000 cats and dogs are born every hour in these United States.

We have one each dog and cat. Sno has survived 16 years (about 112 years for a cat) and Dusky has made it 3. He had a bad time of it a couple of weeks ago, but the vet pulled him through.

Neither animal has any competition at home. In fact, Dusky and Sno join unnatural forces to keep other animals off the lot. There'll be no population explosion there.

Incidentally, Sno languishes in the shade on an old wheelbarrow she has commandeered. The dog has to dig a hole under a tree to cool off. This must be his "good earth" policy.

Anyone with a cat knows it is true that cats only abide everybody or everything else around their place.

They sleep longer, look down upon oftener, bail more and generally run things beyond a dog's desire or understanding.

Sno abides less than anybody. She went through the spaying process 15 years ago, and asks "what else is new" when learning for the Pennsylvania approach to curbing nature.

"And the SPCA had nothing to do with it. What is the SPCA anyhow?" she was last heard meowing, rolling over to a shadier spot on her wheelbarrow.

It's been going on for 112 years at our house.

BENTON TO HEAD ROSEBUD-LOTT HIGH SCHOOL

Jack G. Benton, 32, is the new principal of the Rosebud-Lott Consolidated High School.

A native of Ennis, Benton has been coach and teacher in the Corsicana and Roswell, N. M. schools. He was principal at Kemp high school, in East Texas, and junior high principal in the Wilmer - Hutchins ISD near Dallas.

He received his bachelor of science degree and master of arts degree in school administration and social science from East Texas State University in Commerce.

Buckholts Ups Values, Lowers Tax

School board of Buckholts School District raised property values 25 percent across the board, lowered the tax rate to $1.25 and planned use of reserves for 1970-71 bond payments.

Supt. Leon Brady said the Buckholts board's action will save the district's taxpayer 22 cents per $100 valuation over last year's taxes.

The new rate for local maintenance is $1.25, down from $1.50.

Reserve funds will be used to pay principal and interest of $4,451 on 1970-71's bond payment. Buckholts District has about $39,000 indebtedness.

Buckholts board also voted to borrow $2706 from Buckholts State Bank to complete replacing windows in the Buckholts High building.

And the board employed Miss Susan Prescott, of Temple, to teach first and second grade. All other teaching vacancies are filled, Brady said.

Buckholts board members are: Doyal Arnold, A. W. Zajicek, Jr., W. F. Beckhusen, Alvin Fuchs, Calvin Rachui, Vernon Dungan and Elbert Svetlik.

Cameronite In Mid-East . . .

Those Faraway Places Become His Home

By Lloyd Albertson

When the Six Day War between Israel, Egypt, Jordan and Syria began on June 6, 1967, one of the results was a wave of hatred of Americans sweeping across the Arab countries because of Nasser's propaganda stories -- all unfounded -- that planes from the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean were aiding Israel in bombing Arab cities.

Even in Libya, distant from the war zone, passions ran so high that it was necessary to evacuate all Americans. One of them was a native of Cameron, Melroy Eixman, there in Libya as plant manager of an oil service company at Ben Ghazi. With his wife and young daughter, he was evacuated along with other Americans to Rome, Italy.

That was only one of the things that has happened in the last fifteen years or so in his career that has sent Eixman to such faraway places as a little town in the Grand Chaco in Bolivia, South America, to Libya in North Africa and other Arab countries in the Mid-East and to India and Pakistan.

When tensions relaxed a little, Eixman was able to go back to Libya.

"I returned thirteen days later and reopened the plant," he said when recalling the events last week while on a visit to his old home town here. "The plant was located about five miles out of town. I'd locked it up before being evacuated, and it wasn't damaged at all. But there had been a good deal of rioting and burning and the like in Ben Ghazi itself".

Eixman is now living in Abu Dhabi, the capitol of the small country of the same named adjoining Saudi Arabia, where he is sales engineer for Baroid International, a division of National Led Company, which he joined in 1957. He and his wife and daughter presently are back in the States on vacation.

Melroy Eixman attended Yoe High School here and played on the football team during the years 1947 - 49. He was a tackle and recalls he weighed around 190 or 200 pounds.

"Leo Jackson was the coach for three years," he said. "Paul Smith was coach during my last year. We had a pretty good team. We won bi - district one year."

After graduation from Yoe High in 1950, he attended SMU one year, playing on the freshman football team. Then he transferred to East State Teachers College at Commerce, majoring in business administration.

Two years of Army service interrupted his education there, however, and it was only after his discharge that he could return to college and complete his Bus Ad course and get his degree.

In the Army he was assigned to a unit in Red Canyon, New Mexico, which was working on the Nike missle, which then was new. Later his unit was sent to Los Agneles to install Nike sites to protect that city from possible attack from Russian bombers.

Eixman went to work for Baroid in January, 1959, and has been with that company ever since. He has, however, been "on loan" to several different oil companies from time to time.

His first overseas assignment came that same year when he was sent to Kuwait and went to work as well logging engineer for the Arabian Oil Company. The company was owned by Japanese interests. He worked on the first well Arabian Oil drilled in the neutral zone.

"That first well blew out and burned down the rig," he recalls.

Those Kuwait wells were drilled to a depth of 6,000 or 7,000 feet and produced from 15,000 to 18,000 barrels a day. And they were off shore wells, probably among the first to be drilled.

On his return to the States Eixman drew another overseas assignment; in September he was sent to Yaciba, a small town in Bolivia and near the Argentina border in the Grand Chaco or rain forest -- again "on loan" to an oil company -- but returned in 1960 to go through the company's school.

Vietnam Out, Israel In?

The U. S. has sent an Air Force mission to Israel, assured top-secret electronic jamming gear for Israeli jets and assured two Phantom jets a month for a time.

Soviet crews and ground-to-air missiles are operating for Egyptian military support. Two Phantom jets have been shot down, according to reports, by Russian equipment.

Thus, a direct confrontation is possible, one which President Nixon finds more ominous than our present post-Cambodian Vietnam involvement.

U. S. Senate heavily supports U. S. assistance in Israel while some Senators still demand immediate withdrawal from Vietnam.

The confrontation in the Middle East has more fearful implications for major escalation than Vietnam, where we face indirect Soviet and Chinese conflict.

The Middle East tenses things considerable and raises serious questions about whether we can isolate from one part of the world. under current commitments, and immerse ourselves in confrontation in another.

The Diplomatic Pouch

WASHINGTON, D.C.--The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

African Policy

My wife and I visited the Republic of South Africa and Rhodesia in 1965. We were very favorably impressed with the progress that has been made in those countries in raising the standards of living of the Bantu as well as other colored people of those countries. The press and other communication channels in the United States have been very unfair to the free people of these free countries, which have always been friendly to us.

We should recognize Rhodesia and remove all restrictions with that country as well as with the Republic of South Africa.

J.M.
Seattle, Wash.

Dear J.M.:

The recent termination of U.S. diplomatic relations with Rhodesia and our actions with regard to South Africa reflect our commitment to the principles of self-determination, majority rule, and human equality, both at home and abroad. In South Africa the white minority has erected an edifice of discriminatory and repressive legislation designed to perpetuate a political-economic system based on white supremacy. In the process, the rule of law has been seriously eroded in South Africa, exposing whites and non-whites alike to arbitrary infringements of fundamental liberties. In the case of Rhodesia a tiny white minority rules a population 96% of which is black African, and Rhodesia's new constitution provides no possibility for eventual majority rule.

As Secretary Rogers told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee early last year, the United States is in basic sympathy with the goal of the new African states to bring about an end to racial discrimination and colonialism in Southern Africa. At the same time, we have consistently opposed the use of force in pursuit of this goal and have given our full support to peaceful measures taken by the UN to influence Rhodesian authorities to resolve their dispute with the United Kingdom, the legal sovereign.

Progress toward economic development and betterment of the standard of living in Africa depend on political stability in that continent. We do not believe that the systematic denial on racial grounds of basic rights to the vast majority of the population can lead to that stability. There is, in fact, reason for concern that the present policies followed in Rhodesia and South Africa will eventually lead to serious violence and grave disorder in those parts of Africa.

Relief for War-Torn Biafra

Please press to secure mercy and food delivery to suffering Biafra.

Mrs. C.M.M.
Bethel Park, Pa.

Dear Mrs. C.M.M.:

We are greatly concerned about the suffering caused by the recently terminated civil war and are moving as fast as possible to meet Nigerian Government requests for aid. We particularly want to help provide sufficient food for all the needy and malnourished. Since the war began, the U.S. Government has contributed over $53.5 million to the international relief effort; American private aid has amounted to $13.5 million.

Reports at first were relatively encouraging on Federal Military Government efforts to care for the Ibo population of the former war zone. However, subsequently the disruption of relief efforts by Federal soldiers and some looting and rape have been reported. As yet, fortunately, there are no reports that Federal troops have killed former enemy soldiers or Ibo civilians living in reconquered territory. Ambassador Trueheart has briefed Nigerian Government officials on the reports received from American relief workers in the field. He is continuing his contacts with the highest Nigerian authorities to encourage them to take every possible action to alleviate suffering in eastern Nigeria.

New Wage Rules Asked For Student - Learners

WASHINGTON

Federal Wage and Hour Administrator Robert D. Moran has proposed modified rules for authorization of the payment of special minimum wages to student-learners.

The new rules are designed to lessen paper work and expedite the process involved in employing student-learners at less than the minimum wage.

The Fair Labor Standards Act provides that student-learners may be employed at less than regular minimum wage under special certificates issued by the Wage and Hour Division.

A "student-learner" is a student at an accredited school, college, or university who is employed part-time in a bona fide vocational training program.

Under present procedure, a properly completed application sent to the Division provides immediate temporary authority for employing the student-learner. Thereafter, the Division issues a certificate or denies the application.

Under the proposal, an appropriate school officials' certification on a student-learner application would become the official certificate unless the application was specifically denied by the Division within 30 days.

Moran estimates that the new procedure will eliminate the necessity of the Wage and Hour Division's issuing approximately 10,000 student-learner certificates each year.

The authorized special minimum wage cannot be less than 75 percent of the applicable statutory minimum rate.

The proposed amendment to regulations, Part 520, "Employment of Student-Learners," was published in the June 30, 1970, Federal Register. Copies maybe obtained from the Wage and Hour Division.

Letters to the Editor

July 15, 1970

Dear Editor:

In your July 13 issue of the Herald you published a picture of I.O.O.F. and Rebekas that was made some time in the 30s. I can only remember the names of two people besides my Mother, would you or maybe some old timer please supply me with the names of the people in the picture as you know I lived in Cameron from 1910 until 1941. I should know every one there but I just can't remember names. I would appreciate it very much if you would do this for me. Thank you.

WILDLIFE FUNDS

The State of Texas will receive $793,500 in federal money for its wildlife restoration program, it was announced by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. These funds come from the 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition levied by the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act of 1937 (Pittman-Robertson). Interior distributes the funds using a formula based on the number of hunting license holders and the area of each State.

Bentsen: 'Morals Are Decaying'

Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, says he is as concerned over the threat of "moral bankruptcy" in the United States as he is over the mounting number of business failures.

"All of us are alarmed over the current economic situation. Inflation, interest rates and the number of people who cannot find jobs all are going up—while the supply of money, the number of new homes being started, the number of businesses being expanded and the stock market all are going down," he declared.

"But what seems almost as tragic is the moral degeneracy apparently gripping this nation," said Bentsen. "Crime and the use of narcotics have become so widespread, particularly in many of our larger cities, that curbing them sometimes seems almost hopeless.

"Some of the movies being shown these days surely must be sickening and disgusting even to the most broad-minded citizens. We are experiencing moral decay on a national basis. We need inspirational leadership, with government officials teaming with business and industry leaders in trying to put this country back on the right track, both economically and morally," Bentsen added.

The Democratic nominee's wife, B. A., traveling via the "Bentsen Buggy," a mobile home bus, is campaigning this summer along the various trails developed by the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

While traveling the Hill Country Trail, Mrs. Bentsen was guest of honor at a coffee hosted by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at the LBJ Ranch in Stonewall. About 60 women attended the event and heard remarks by Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Bentsen and also chatted informally with Mr. Johnson.

PAT LEHMANN, of Giddings, Alcoa's newest Class "A" pipefitter, receives Apprentice Program certificate of completion from Rockdale Works chief mechanical engineer M. D. Cotton.

Alcoa Graduates First '70 Apprentice At Rockdale Works

On Friday, July 10, Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works graduated its first apprentice for 1970.

Pat Lehmann of Giddings, Texas, stepped into the Class "A" Pipefitter ranks, after completing more than 8,000 hours of on-the-job training along with directed classroom study.

Alcoa's Rockdale Works, as of June 1, 1970, had more than 70 Alcoans participating in its Apprentice Program -- designed to turn out highly skilled craftsmen to maintain quality aluminum production at the country's largest aluminum smelter.

Company-wide, Alcoa (as of January 1, 1970) had over 1,200 trade apprentices pursuing training in 33 apprentice trades at 21 plant locations.

Lehmann, who came to work for Alcoa in October of 1965, was accepted into the Apprentice Program on August 8, 1965.

After that it was a two year assignment in Guatemala, "on loan" to Ohio Oil Company, helping to train their geologists. Then a refresher course back in the United States before being sent overseas again -- this time to the Spanish Sahara to work with Champlin Oil & Refining Company in 1962 and 1963.

And later in 1963 he was transferred to Libya "on Loan" to Mobil Oil Company and S O Standard.

When Baroid built their new plant in Ben Ghazi in 1965 the company made Eixman plant manager. He was still operating it when the Six Day War erupted in June, 1967, and all Americans were evacuated from Libya.

A few months after he reopened the plant, Eixman returned to the United States and worked for a year or so in Morgan, Louisiana, before being assigned by the company to his present position in Abu Dhabi.

He is sales representative for Baroid there and has a territory that extends from the Arab countries of the Mid-East to India and Pakistan.

Eixman was married in 1963 to Teresa Garcia Garces of Cuidad Real, Spain. They were married in Las Plomas, one of the Canary Islands. They have a daughter, Rose Mary, four years old.

Eixman speaks Spanish fluently and says he can speak workman's Arabic enough to get his orders across to the company's workers.

In Abu Dhabi he and his family live in an apartment furnished by the company in an ultramodern apartment house only about two hundred yards from the beach. Abu Dhabi has only about 20,000 population; the city is rapidly being rebuilt -- bulldozers are clearing away the older parts of town to make way for brand new buildings.

Sheikh Zaid Bin Sultan Nayhan is the ruler of the country. Abu Dhabi is still a British protectorate and has little or no armed forces. It borders on Saudi Arabia and has been having a dispute with that country; which claims some of the oil producing areas now belongint to Abu Dhabi.

"The British protectorate is due to end in 1971 and they will pull out then. It is anybody's guess what will happen after they leave," Eixman remarked.

He and his wife and daughter will leave to return to their home in Abu Dhabi on July 19, going to jet to Amsterdam, Rome and Beriut and Abu Dhabi.

RHS Activities

Officers of the Student Council of Rogers High School for 1970-71 are attending the State Student Council workshop at Trinity University in San Antonio July 12 to 17. Miss Karrie Sue Isbell is sponsoring the delegation.

Attending the workshop are Gail Hughling, president; Thomas Green, vice president; Diane Psencik, secretary - treasurer; and Janet Guess, reporter - parliamentarian.

1970-71 will be the sixteenth year Rogers High School has had a Student council. Officers have attended the workshop and conferences every year.

CTCOG Receives Grant For 'Focus On Aging'

The Texas Governor's Committee on Aging has awarded a grant of $11,250 to the Central Texas Council of Governments for planning and development of programs for the aging.

The program will be called Focus on Aging. The funds are part of a nationwide network of State and community programs for the elderly established by Congress in the Older Americans Act of 1965.

The grant will be matched with $3,750 from the Central Texas Council of Governments, which has headquarters in Belton, and will be used to serve the six counties of Mills, Hamilton, Lampasas, Coryell, Bell, and Milam.

The Governor's Committee, chaired by S. R. Greenwood of Temple, has been interested in establishing planning programs for senior Texans on an area-wide basis.

Presently there are local Committees on Aging in each of the 254 counties of Texas, but the Central Texas Council of Governments (CTCOG) is the first area-wide organization to receive a planning grant. They expect to work very closely with the Committees on Aging in their six-county area.

Charles Cass, director of CT COG, stated that there was a real need for programs for the elderly in this area. One of these counties, Mills, has 25% of its total population aged 65 or over, the highest proportion of any county in Texas.

About 9% of the population of the State is 65 and over. There are about 24,000 persons age 65 and over in the six-county area.

The Council of Governments has hired Mrs. Tylee Smith of Killeen as project director. Mrs. Smith has a master's degree in social work and experience in working with senior citizens.

She said, "I am looking forward to working with the older people of Central Texas toward the four goals of this project. We hope to develop more ways for older people to participate in and contribute to the life of their communities.

"At the same time there will be research into some of the problems facing senior citizens in this area. We also want to increase community awareness of both the potentialities and needs of older people. And finally this project will facilitate the exchange of information among, and about, programs and resources for the elderly," she said.

Plans Told For Barnes Dinner

Plans for a statewide dinner honoring Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes in Austin on August 14 were announced today by Dr. Denton A. Cooley of Houston and Mrs. Eugene McDermott of Dallas, co-chairmen of the event.

Funds raised from the $100 a plate tickets will go toward the Lieutenant Governor's campaign for a second term.

Entertainment will be provided by comedian Buddy Hackett and others.

Dr. Cooley and Mrs. McDermott said in a joint statement: "Friends of Ben Barnes from all parts of the state are joining in this coordinated effort to pay tribute to the Lieutenant Governor for his 10 years of past service."

Eggers Raps Governor's Action In Hospital Probe

Republican candidate for Governor Paul Eggers this week questioned Preston Smith's method of handling the allegations of misconduct at the Austin State (Mental) Hospital.

Eggers has been attending a series of campaign Regional Leadership Conferences. The first conference was held Saturday in Dallas followed by Amarillo, Big Spring, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Houston.

The Republican candidate also touched on the governor's decisions in making appointments to important state boards.

A recent investigation at the Austin State Hospital substantiated the misconduct charges made more than a month ago by Austin State Rep. Don Cavness.

"I was disappointed to hear that the investigation report substantiated the allegations made by State Rep. Cavness," Eggers said. "It is my hope now that the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board take prompt corrective action to solve these problems."

Eggers then described Gov. Smith's action "This once again points up the hasty methods used by Gov. Smith to solve problems of state and how he is sometimes forced to retreat from premature decisions," he said.

"Earlier he (Gov. Smith) stated that there was 'no evidence of wrongdoing' at the state hospital. The investigation proved this was not true.

Eggers first touched on Smith's appointment to the Industrial Accident Board. "Remember the case of the weekend qualifier?" he asked. "He was the husband of the Governor's longtime personal secretary who was given a $19,000 - a - year post."

The board supervises the complicated program of workman's compensation benefits for on-the-job accidents. It was set up to have three members -- a wage earner, a practicing attorney and an employer. Smith's appointment was to the employer position, Eggers said.

"The fact that the appointee had never been an employer did not deter our Governor in the least," Eggers said. "Smith's appointee merely resigned his job with one state agency on a Friday, was hired as executive vice president of an Austin printing firm that Saturday and on Monday, now a full-fledged executive, quit that job and took over at the Industrial Accident Board."

Eggers discussed the three Smith appointees to the Board of Psychologists, which was established to license other psychologists for practice in Texas.

Pressure from psychologists, based on the questionable qualifications of the appointees, forced Smith to withdraw his three appointments only two days after he had announced them, Eggers said.

Newspapers are one of the biggest users of forest products, reports the Southern Forest Institute. The newsprint on which this newspaper is produced is a special kind of paper manufactured especially for that purpose.

Tips From Tippit

As you put your vehicle through its daily paces, what is likely to be the most dangerous maneuver?

Could it be when you bring the speed up to a mile a minute? Not if you're on an expressway and the 60 miles an hour is your proper speed.

Or is it when you're driving at 25 miles an hour on city streets? Not if you're driving within the posted speed limits and all conditions are vaorable.

Probably the most treacherous driving you're likely to face day after day is when you're backing.

Motor vehicles are designed to place the driver where the action is: up front where he enjoys a wide angle of vision.

So, be careful, because when you drive in reverse, you may be up front but there's no telling when the action may be back in the rear.

CAMERON'S PARADE OF SPORTS

ARROWHEAD HUNTING

Is it a hobby or is it collecting or a sport? Jerry Matula believes it is a combination of all three.

Certainly the miles that are walked searching the fields and gullies for arrowheads requires a lot of physical effort. And of course keeping the arrowheads, cataloging and arranging displays could be called collecting. The hobby part comes from the thrill and excitement of finding an arrowhead made by the Indians, realizing of course, you are probably the first white man to touch it or even see it.

There is also some danger connected with arrowhead hunting, there is always the chance of stepping on a rattlesnake or copperhead. Locating old Indian camp sites and giving them a thorough search is of course, the best place to find arrowheads. The best time to find them is after the fields are plowed and the rain has washed the sand or dirt off the arrowheads.

Mr. Matula has been hunting arrowheads for over 40 years and arrowheads are not all he finds. Drills or awls of flint are sometimes found. Flaking tooks of deer bone used in making arrowheads, beads, pottery and boatstones or stones used as fishing weights. His finds include an old pistol and spurs found in the Port Sullivan area. He also has a number of metates used for grinding maize (or Indian corn).

Some of his choice arrowheads were made from 4000 to 6000 years BC., according to the Texas Archaeology Society. His is indeed an interesting - sport? Hobby? Whichever it is - If you don't like to walk or your patience wears thin easily don't take up arrowhead hunting.

22 Enter 4-H Dress Revue

By Christine Laws

"Everything Is Beautiful" was the theme for the Milam County 4-H Dress Revue held June 30 at 8 p.m., at the Peace Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall in Rockdale. A total of 22 4-H'ers entered this event.

The group was divided into four divisions. Beginners were under 12 years of age by January 1st. Juniors were between the ages of 12-13 years of age by January 1st. Senior-Teens were 14 years of age by January 1st with less than three years of Club work. Seniors were 14 years of age with three or more years of club work.

Each girl made the garment she wished. The construction of the garments, the record books, and how the garment looked on the girl were the areas judged.

Garments ranged from playsuits and scooter skirts to pantsuits, sundresses, and school dresses to knit dresses and coats and capes.

The placings were as follows: BEGINNERS: Nan Noak of Rockdale, 1st place; Priscilla Lamere of Minerva, 2nd, Martha Garza of Rockdale, 3rd and Blue ribbon, Angie Garza of Rockdale.

JUNIOR DIVISION: Carolyn Helpert of Burlington 1st, Josephine Jones of Griffin Chapel 2nd, and Rosemary Ehler of St. Anthony, 3rd.

SENIOR - TEEN DIVISION: Dandra Dykes of Griffin Chapel 1st, Sandra Cobb of Countywide 2nd, Charlotte Rosemond of Maysfield 3rd, and Red ribbon, Gwendolyn Malone of Gause.

SENIOR DIVISION: Peggy Stephens of Rockdale 1st, Viola Lamere of Minerva 2nd, Belinda Helpert of Burlington 3rd. Blue ribbons went to Connie Cone of Minerva, Judy Helpert of Burlington, Paula Fleming of Countywide, and Naomi Brown of Minerva. Red ribbons were awarded to Cathy Garza, Josie Garza and Deborah Stephens of Rockdale, and Jane Helpert of Burlington.

Judges for this event were Mrs. I. N. Hughes and Mrs. Coleman Kelley of Cameron, Mrs. Robert Foster of Branchville, Mrs. Dudley McDaniel of Minerva, and Mrs. James Petty of Rockdale.

Gifts to the three top girls in each division were donated by the following merchants: J. C. Penney, Culpeppers, Ben Franklin, Duke & Ayers, Schiguits, Bernices, McIntosh's, Duseks, and Irvings.

Miss Peggy Stephens served as Mistress of Ceremonies and Jane Helpert gave the welcome. Narrators were Paula Fleming and Belinda Helpert. Connie Cone expressed the appreciation of the 4-H'ers. Ribbons and gifts were presented by the Ass't County Agent and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schuetze.

Decorations consisted of flowers, greenery, white picket fence and arch, and fabric draping. Hosts for this event were Rufus Lamere and Larry Cone of Minerva, Donald Fleming of Countywide, and Leroy Stephens of Rockdale. Rosemary Ehler was in charge of registration. Refreshments and decorations were done by the 4-H girls and adult leaders.

Peggy Stephens and Carolyn Helpert will represent Milam county at the District 8 4-H Dress Revue in Stephenville on July 23.

Scholarship Available At TSTI

WACO

A $400 scholarship has been made available for a student wishing to study seed processing technology at the Texas State Technical Institute this fall.

Funds for the scholarship, to be known as the W. R. "Bob" Poage Scholarship, were donated by the Texas Seedsmen's Association and the Texas Certified Seed Producers. The two groups have set aside a total of $1,000 for scholarships this fall.

The program is offered only on the James Connally Campus of TSTI. Other campuses in the multi-campus technical school will not offer the course this fall.

Program chairman for seed processing technology, Robert Loe, said the money can be used for tuition, room, board and other student expenses. Professor Loe asked that incoming students interested in the program should contact him before August 15.

HOT WEATHER brings increased power demands and these linemen are silhouetted against cloudy skies as they install a larger transformer at 8th and Central Sts. The clouds, thickening a little each day, raised hopes for much-needed rain.

Grand Jury Returns 12 Indictments

State To Expand School Program

A new statewide program which will put some high school vocational students into community college classrooms beginning September 1 received the official go-ahead from the State Board of Education in Austin last week and is being examined by Cameron school officials for application locally.

The plan, authorized by the 61st Legislature, will open community colleges such as Temple Junior College and TSTI in Waco to younger students who cannot receive the skill - developing courses in their home school districts.

CISD Supt. D. R. Dodson said this week that they will be looking into applying the program locally but will not have it in operation when school opens.

"We have no way of determining what courses our students would be interested in or how many would be interested in the program at this time," Dodson said. "But we will be looking into it (the program) and possibly could have it set up by mid-term."

James Haynie, TEA assistant director explained that the new program was designed principally for school districts like those in Milam County that cannot afford the vocational laboratories and equipment, either because they don't have the money or the necessary number of students to support the highly technical programs.

"Under this new approach, several school districts might contract with one community college for a full class in a specific vocation -- with only a few students drawn from each secondary school," Haynie said.

Applications for approval now coming into the Agency Department of Occupational Education and Technology offer a preliminary indication of how the plan may work. Lee College in Baytown, for example, will be asked by five different school districts to open classes in radio-television repair, machine shop, offset printing, welding data processing, automotive mechanics, and electronics to the high school students.

The program will be supported by the School Foundation Program. The state will pay the local school district $264 per student per year.

SERVICE HELD FOR A. KUTNAK

Albert Kutnak, 77, died at 8 p.m. Thursday in a Cameron hospital.

Mr. Kutnak was born December 12, 1892 in Europe and had lived in Milam County for the past 50 years. A retired farmer, he lived at 1604 W. 6th St.

Funeral services were 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Monica Catholic Church, Rev. John Geiser and Rev. Emilian Foltyn officiating. Burial was in St. Monica Cemetery.

He is survived by nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were George Hosch, Matt Zarosky, Sr., Johnnie Plsek, Henry Schattle, Milush Valka, Arnold Scholz.

5 Charged In Area Robberies

A Milam County Grand Jury heard 13 witnesses in 12 charges Wednesday, returning 12 indictments.

Indictments included charges of robbery and receiving stolen property resulting from the break-in at Western Auto Store January 18, and the assault and robbery of an individual on March 14th by three youths.

Grand Jurors for the May term which met Wednesday were; Lonnie Box of Thorndale, foreman, Don Edmonds, Cameron, secretary, R. H. (Bob) Foster of Branchville, D. C. Drummond of Sharp, P. F. Shine of Conoley, Alex Black of Rockdale, Freddie Gray of Rockdale, T. E. Martin of Rockdale and C. W. Talbot of Milano.

Indictments were:

James William Riley and Joseph Albert Dale of San Antonio, felony theft at Thorndale on March 30.

Joe Romine of Rockdale, swindle with worthless check, February 3 at Cameron.

Jasper Lee Pinkston of Cameron, assault with intent to murder, April 11 in Cameron.

A. L. Stone of Navasota, forgery and passing a forged instrument, January 19 in Fort Worth.

Michael Charles Maddox of Cameron, Leland Lyles of Temple, and Kenneth Teal of Cameron, robbery, March 14 in Buckholts.

Wesley Robers Myrow of Huntsville and Virgill Keith Prindle of Fort Worth, burglary, January 18 in Cameron.

Archie Donaho, Jr., Garland, DWI (subsequent offense) July 4 in Cameron.

Two-Vehicle Accident Injures Six

Six farm laborers were injured late Thursday afternoon when the pickup in which they were riding was struck in the rear by a car.

The accident happened about 3 1/2 miles east of Maysfield on Highway 190 at 6:30 p.m.

Investigating DPS Patrolman Robert Eason said both vehicles were traveling east. The pickup, driven by Joe Pagach of Rt. 4, Cameron, had a total of 11 people in it. Eason said Pagach was taking the laborers to their homes in Calvert when the accident happened.

Driver of the car, Theodore Balboa Jr. of Cameron, was not injured, Eason said.

The injured were taken to a Hearne hospital. One woman was later transferred to Scott and White at Temple. Extent of their injuries was not known.

Now

With F.M.L.

The population explosion is generating a lot of programs and proposals for birth control measures, surely a solution if people, the distressing poor in India, for example, could accept them.

But a new birth control program is proposed for animals.

Pennsylvania Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is requiring persons who adopt female dogs and cats to have the animals "spayed", starting Monday.

Pennsylvania authorities, according to a news report, are requiring a $20 deposit by the adopting persons and are refunding $15 when a certificate showing the female dog or cat has been spayed.

The SPCA is placing about 1,000 animals a month in new homes, but cannot keep pace with influx of stray and unwanted animals.

This perhaps is a solution to the current abundance of cats brought up in a recent City Council meeting and a frequent problem of too many stray dogs.

The alternative is destruction of the unwanted animals by SPCA direction, whether well, sick or ill tempered.

NOW-NOW-NOW

We thought we were only in competition with other people for breathing smog-filled air. And now we learn about 10,000 cats and dogs are born every hour in these United States.

We have one each dog and cat. Sno has survived 16 years (about 112 years for a cat) and Dusky has made it 3. He had a bad time of it a couple of weeks ago, but the vet pulled him through.

Neither animal has any competition at home. In fact, Dusky and Sno join unnatural forces to keep other animals off the lot. There'll be no population explosion there.

Incidentally, Sno languishes in the shade on an old wheelbarrow she has commandeered. The dog has to dig a hole under a tree to cool off. This must be his "good earth" policy.

Anyone with a cat knows it is true that cats only abide everybody or everything else around their place.

They sleep longer, look down upon oftener, ball more and generally run things beyond a dog's desire or understanding.

Sno abides less than anybody. She went through the spaying process 15 years ago, and asks "what else is new" when learning for the Pennsylvania approach to curbing nature.

"And the SPCA had nothing to do with it. What is the SPCA anyhow?" she was last heard meowing, rolling over to a shadier spot on her wheelbarrow.

It's been going on for 112 years at our house.

BENTON TO HEAD ROSEBUD-LOTT HIGH SCHOOL

Jack G. Benton, 32, is the new principal of the Rosebud-Lott Consolidated High School.

A native of Ennis, Benton has been coach and teacher in the Corsicana and Roswell, N. M. schools. He was principal at Kemp high school, in East Texas, and junior high principal in the Wilmer - Hutchins ISD near Dallas.

He received his bachelor of science degree and master of arts degree in school administration and social science from East Texas State University in Commerce.

Buckholts Ups Values, Lowers Tax

School board of Buckholts School District raised property values 25 percent across the board, lowered the tax rate to $1.25 and planned use of reserves for 1970-71 bond payments.

Supt. Leon Brady said the Buckholts board's action will save the district's taxpayer 22 cents per $100 valuation over last year's taxes.

The new rate for local maintenance is $1.25, down from $1.50.

Reserve funds will be used to pay principal and interest of $4,451 on 1970-71's bond payment. Buckholts District has about $39,000 indebtedness.

Buckholts board also voted to borrow $2706 from Buckholts State Bank to complete replacing windows in the Buckholts High building.

And the board employed Miss Susan Prescott, of Temple, to teach first and second grade. All other teaching vacancies are filled, Brady said.

Buckholts board members are: Doyal Arnold, A. W. Zajicek, Jr., W. F. Beckhusen, Alvin Fuchs, Calvin Rachui, Vernon Dungan and Elbert Svetlik.

Cameronite In Mid-East . . .

Those Faraway Places Become His Home

By Lloyd Albertson

When the Six Day War between Israel, Egypt, Jordan and Syria began on June 6, 1967, one of the results was a wave of hatred of Americans sweeping across the Arab countries because of Nasser's propaganda stories -- all unfounded -- that planes from the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean were aiding Israel in bombing Arab cities.

Even in Libya, distant from the war zone, passions ran so high that it was necessary to evacuate all Americans. One of them was a native of Cameron, Melroy Eixman, there in Libya as plant manager of an oil service company at Ben Ghazi. With his wife and young daughter, he was evacuated along with other Americans to Rome, Italy.

That was only one of the things that has happened in the last fifteen years or so in his career that has sent Eixman to such faraway places as a little town in the Grand Chaco in Bolivia, South America, to Libya in North Africa and other Arab countries in the Mid-East and to India and Pakistan.

When tensions relaxed a little, Eixman was able to go back to Libya.

"I returned thirteen days later and reopened the plant," he said when recalling the events last week while on a visit to his old home town here. "The plant was located about five miles out of town. I'd locked it up before being evacuated, and it wasn't damaged at all. But there had been a good deal of rioting and burning and the like in Ben Ghazi itself".

Eixman is now living in Abu Dhabi, the capitol of the small country of the same named adjoining Saudi Arabia, where he is sales engineer for Baroid International, a division of National Led Company, which he joined in 1957. He and his wife and daughter presently are back in the States on vacation.

Melroy Eixman attended Yoe High School here and played on the football team during the years 1947 - 49. He was a tackle and recalls he weighed around 190 or 200 pounds.

"Leo Jackson was the coach for three years," he said. "Paul Smith was coach during my last year. We had a pretty good team. We won bi - district one year."

After graduation from Yoe High in 1950, he attended SMU one year, playing on the freshman football team. Then he transferred to East State Teachers College at Commerce, majoring in business administration.

Two years of Army service interrupted his education there, however, and it was only after his discharge that he could return to college and complete his Bus Ad course and get his degree.

In the Army he was assigned to a unit in Red Canyon, New Mexico, which was working on the Nike missle, which then was new. Later his unit was sent to Los Agneles to install Nike sites to protect that city from possible attack from Russian bombers.

Eixman went to work for Baroid in January, 1959, and has been with that company ever since. He has, however, been "on loan" to several different oil companies from time to time.

His first overseas assignment came that same year when he was sent to Kuwait and went to work as well logging engineer for the Arabian Oil Company. The company was owned by Japanese interests. He worked on the first well Arabian Oil drilled in the neutral zone.

"That first well blew out and burned down the rig," he recalls.

Those Kuwait wells were drilled to a depth of 6,000 or 7,000 feet and produced from 15,000 to 18,000 barrels a day. And they were off shore wells, probably among the first to be drilled.

On his return to the States Eixman drew another overseas assignment; in September he was sent to Yaciba, a small town in Bolivia and near the Argentina border in the Grand Chaco or rain forest -- again "on loan" to an oil company -- but returned in 1960 to go through the company's school.

Vietnam Out, Israel In?

The U. S. has sent an Air Force mission to Israel, assured top-secret electronic jamming gear for Israeli jets and assured two Phantom jets a month for a time.

Soviet crews and ground-to-air missiles are operating for Egyptian military support. Two Phantom jets have been shot down, according to reports, by Russian equipment.

Thus, a direct confrontation is possible, one which President Nixon finds more ominous than our present post-Cambodian Vietnam involvement.

U. S. Senate heavily supports U. S. assistance in Israel while some Senators still demand immediate withdrawal from Vietnam.

The confrontation in the Middle East has more fearful implications for major escalation than Vietnam, where we face indirect Soviet and Chinese conflict.

The Middle East tenses things considerable and raises serious questions about whether we can isolate from one part of the world. under current commitments, and immerse ourselves in confrontation in another.

New Wage Rules Asked For Student - Learners

WASHINGTON

Federal Wage and Hour Administrator Robert D. Moran has proposed modified rules for authorization of the payment of special minimum wages to student-learners.

The new rules are designed to lessen paper work and expedite the process involved in employing student-learners at less than the minimum wage.

The Fair Labor Standards Act provides that student-learners may be employed at less than regular minimum wage under special certificates issued by the Wage and Hour Division.

A "student-learner" is a student at an accredited school, college, or university who is employed part-time in a bona fide vocational training program.

Under present procedure, a properly completed application sent to the Division provides immediate temporary authority for employing the student-learner. Thereafter, the Division issues a certificate or denies the application.

Under the proposal, an appropriate school officials' certification on a student-learner application would become the official certificate unless the application was specifically denied by the Division within 30 days.

Moran estimates that the new procedure will eliminate the necessity of the Wage and Hour Division's issuing approximately 10,000 student-learner certificates each year.

The authorized special minimum wage cannot be less than 75 percent of the applicable statutory minimum rate.

The proposed amendment to regulations, Part 520, "Employment of Student-Learners," was published in the June 30, 1970, Federal Register. Copies maybe obtained from the Wage and Hour Division.

Letters to the Editor

July 15, 1970

Dear Editor:

In your July 13 issue of the Herald you published a picture of I.O.O.F. and Rebekas that was made some time in the 30s. I can only remember the names of two people besides my Mother, would you or maybe some old timer please supply me with the names of the people in the picture as you know I lived in Cameron from 1910 until 1941. I should know every one there but I just can't remember names. I would appreciate it very much if you would do this for me. Thank you.

Yours truly,

The Diplomatic Pouch

WASHINGTON, D.C.--The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

African Policy

My wife and I visited the Republic of South Africa and Rhodesia in 1965. We were very favorably impressed with the progress that has been made in those countries in raising the standards of living of the Bantu as well as other colored people of those countries. The press and other communication channels in the United States have been very unfair to the free people of these free countries, which have always been friendly to us.

We should recognize Rhodesia and remove all restrictions with that country as well as with the Republic of South Africa.

J.M.
Seattle, Wash.

Dear J.M.:

The recent termination of U.S. diplomatic relations with Rhodesia and our actions with regard to South Africa reflect our commitment to the principles of self-determination, majority rule, and human equality, both at home and abroad. In South Africa the white minority has erected an edifice of discriminatory and repressive legislation designed to perpetuate a political-economic system based on white supremacy. In the process, the rule of law has been seriously eroded in South Africa, exposing whites and non-whites alike to arbitrary infringements of fundamental liberties. In the case of Rhodesia a tiny white minority rules a population 96% of which is black African, and Rhodesia's new constitution provides no possibility for eventual majority rule.

As Secretary Rogers told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee early last year, the United States is in basic sympathy with the goal of the new African states to bring about an end to racial discrimination and colonialism in Southern Africa. At the same time, we have consistently opposed the use of force in pursuit of this goal and have given our full support to peaceful measures taken by the UN to influence Rhodesian authorities to resolve their dispute with the United Kingdom, the legal sovereign.

Progress toward economic development and betterment of the standard of living in Africa depend on political stability in that continent. We do not believe that the systematic denial on racial grounds of basic rights to the vast majority of the population can lead to that stability. There is, in fact, reason for concern that the present policies followed in Rhodesia and South Africa will eventually lead to serious violence and grave disorder in those parts of Africa.

Relief for War-Torn Biafra

Please press to secure mercy and food delivery to suffering Biafra.

Mrs. C.M.M.
Bethel Park, Pa.

Dear Mrs. C.M.M.:

We are greatly concerned about the suffering caused by the recently terminated civil war and are moving as fast as possible to meet Nigerian Government requests for aid. We particularly want to help provide sufficient food for all the needy and malnourished. Since the war began, the U.S. Government has contributed over $53.5 million to the international relief effort; American private aid has amounted to $13.5 million.

Reports at first were relatively encouraging on Federal Military Government efforts to care for the Ibo population of the former war zone. However, subsequently the disruption of relief efforts by Federal soldiers and some looting and rape have been reported. As yet, fortunately, there are no reports that Federal troops have killed former enemy soldiers or Ibo civilians living in reconquered territory. Ambassador Trueheart has briefed Nigerian Government officials on the reports received from American relief workers in the field. He is continuing his contacts with the highest Nigerian authorities to encourage them to take every possible action to alleviate suffering in eastern Nigeria.

WILDLIFE FUNDS

The State of Texas will receive $793,500 in federal money for its wildlife restoration program, it was announced by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. These funds come from the 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition levied by the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act of 1937 (Pittman-Robertson). Interior distributes the funds using a formula based on the number of hunting license holders and the area of each State.

Bentsen: 'Morals Are Decaying'

Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, says he is as concerned over the threat of "moral bankruptcy" in the United States as he is over the mounting number of business failures.

"All of us are alarmed over the current economic situation. Inflation, interest rates and the number of people who cannot find jobs all are going up—while the supply of money, the number of new homes being started, the number of businesses being expanded and the stock market all are going down," he declared.

"But what seems almost as tragic is the moral degeneracy apparently gripping this nation," said Bentsen. "Crime and the use of narcotics have become so widespread, particularly in many of our larger cities, that curbing them sometimes seems almost hopeless.

"Some of the movies being shown these days surely must be sickening and disgusting even to the most broad-minded citizens. We are experiencing moral decay on a national basis. We need inspirational leadership, with government officials teaming with business and industry leaders in trying to put this country back on the right track, both economically and morally," Bentsen added.

The Democratic nominee's wife, B. A., traveling via the "Bentsen Buggy," a mobile home bus, is campaigning this summer along the various trails developed by the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

While traveling the Hill Country Trail, Mrs. Bentsen was guest of honor at a coffee hosted by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at the LBJ Ranch in Stonewall. About 60 women attended the event and heard remarks by Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Bentsen and also chatted informally with Mr. Johnson.

MRS. JAY GIDDENS

Miss Linda Farrell Is Bride Of Jay Giddens

Miss Linda Faye Farrell and Mr. Jay Lee Giddens were married at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Rogers Church of Christ, Mr. Stanely Bratcher, minister, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hulon Farrell of Rogers. She is a 1967 graduate of Rogers High School and attended Temple Junior College. She is presently a senior Home Economics major at Texas Tech University.

Mr. Giddens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Giddens of Gatesville, is a 1966 graduate of Gatesville High School and is presently a senior Range and Wildlife Management major at Texas Tech.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organiza with empress bodice of Chantilly lace. Lace ruffled the high neck and long sleeves and banded the A-line skirt. A mantilla veil fell to chapel length.

Mrs. Tommy Knowles of Lubbock was matron of honor and bridesmaids and matrons were Miss Marsha Guess of Rogers, Miss Beverly Farrell of Temple, Mrs. Buddy Dubcak of Temple and Mrs. Johnny Richter of College Station. The bride's niece, Vicki Raye Farrell was flower girl.

Bridal attendants wore dresses fashioned of white lace boice joined in an Empire waistline to a gathered blue crepe skirt. They carried long-stemmed white mums.

The groom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were H. L. Farrell of Taylor, brother of the bride, Tommy Knowles of Lubbock, Bill Blaydes of Dallas, and Steve Ward of Rogers. Ushers were W. C. Evans of Little River and Larry Doss of Houston.

Donald Lee Farrell, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

A reception honored the couple at the home of Mrs. Mae Bigham. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Edith Starns, Misses Iris and Valera Williams, Dona Gunter and Jan Merka of Rogers, Treena Cannon and Janis Rickard of Temple and Mmes. D. D. Ward, Elwood Raley, Louis Sirny, Jasper Tyler, C. O. Gunter, John Gunter and B. M. Guess, all of Rogers; and Mrs. W. C. Evans of Little River.

Rice bags were distributed by Jo Lynn and Patty Williams of Odessa, cousins of the bride.

MRS. & MRS. WARREN DEE HILLMAN

Miss Kamenicky Weds Warren Dee Hillman

Miss Patricia Ann Kamenicky became the bride of Warren Dee Hillman Saturday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Buckholts Brethren Church.

The Rev. John Baletka of Austin officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wedding music was presented by Mr. Ladis Marek, Jr. of Cameron, organist, and Mr. Max McClaren of Cameron, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Kamenicky of Buckholts and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hillman of Buckholts.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal, traditional gown of hand clipped chantilly lace and organdy fashioned with a Vasquel bodice, Subrina neckline, long tapered lace sleeves and a bouffant skirt with a tiered front and detachable watteau organza train outlined in lace.

The minature crown of pearls and crystals held a lace edged shoulder veil. She carried a white prayer book surrounded with a cascade of white carnations and an orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. LaVerne Taylor of Temple, cousin of the bride. Bridal attendants were Miss Shirley Rogers of Cameron, Miss Carol Tomascek of Buckholts and Miss Romona Landry of Houston, cousin of the bride. Miss Laurie Taylor of Temple, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Serving as best man was Tommy Barton of Cameron. Groomsmen were Clifford Shiller of Rogers, cousin of the bride, Frankie Mikulec of Buckholts and Jerry Barton of Cameron. Scott Hillman of Bryan, nephew of the bridegroom was ring bearer.

Ushers were Gene Hillman of Cameron and Bobby Hillman of Bryan, brothers of the groom. Candlelighters were John Jurca of Buckholts and Aubrey Warrick of Cameron.

The bride's mother wore a beige A-line knit sleeveless dress with full length beige lace coat and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a bright pink knit dress with matching coat, black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall.

Houseparty members were Mrs. Lillie Kniple of Buckholts, Mrs. A. A. Ondrej, Mrs. Gene Hillman, Mrs. O. B. Horstmann, Miss Charlene Kretchmeyer, all of Cameron, Mrs. Bobby Hillman of Bryan, Miss Milady Shiller, Mrs. Johnny Balusek, Mrs. Anton Svetlik, Mrs. Jack Ruzicka, all of Buckholts, and Mrs. Tony Landry of Houston.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Buckholts high school and is presently employed at Newton Memorial Hospital in Cameron. The bridegroom is a 1967 graduate of Yoe High School and served two years in the U. S. Army including service in Vietnam. He is presently employed at Cen-Tex Feeders Supply in Cameron.

After a wedding trip the couple will make their home at 609 West 1st St. in Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hillman were hosts for a rehearsal dinner Friday night at Hills Steak House in Buckholts. The couple exchanged gifts and presented gifts to members of the wedding party.

PAT LEHMANN, of Giddings, Alcoa's newest Class "A" pipefitter, receives Apprentice Program certificate of completion from Rockdale Works chief mechanical engineer M. D. Cotton.

Alcoa Graduates First '70 Apprentice At Rockdale Works

On Friday, July 10, Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works graduated its first apprentice for 1970.

Pat Lehmann of Giddings, Texas, stepped into the Class "A" Pipefitter ranks, after completing more than 8,000 hours of on-the-job training along with directed classroom study.

Alcoa's Rockdale Works, as of June 1, 1970, had more than 70 Alcoans participating in its Apprentice Program -- designed to turn out highly skilled craftsmen to maintain quality aluminum production at the country's largest aluminum smelter.

Company-wide, Alcoa (as of January 1, 1970) had over 1,200 trade apprentices pursuing training in 33 apprentice trades at 21 plant locations.

Lehmann, who came to work for Alcoa in October of 1965, was accepted into the Apprentice Program on August 8, 1965.

After that it was a two year assignment in Guatamala, "on loan" to Ohio Oil Company, helping to train their geologists. Then a refresher course back in the United States before being sent overseas again -- this time to the Spanish Sahara to work with Champlin Oil & Refining Company in 1962 and 1963.

And later in 1963 he was transferred to Libya "on Loan" to Mobil Oil Company and S O Standard.

When Baroid built their new plant in Ben Ghazi in 1965 the company made Eixman plant manager. He was still operating it when the Six Day War erupted in June, 1967, and all Americans were evacuated from Libya.

A few months after he reopened the plant, Eixman returned to the United States and worked for a year or so in Morgan, Louisiana, before being assigned by the company to his present position in Abu Dhabi.

He is sales representative for Baroid there and has a territory that extends from the Arab countries of the Mid-East to India and Pakistan.

Eixman was married in 1963 to Teresa Garcia Garces of Cuidad Real, Spain. They were married in Las Plomas, one of the Canary Islands. They have a daughter, Rose Mary, four years old.

Eixman speaks Spanish fluently and says he can speak workman's Arabic enough to get his orders across to the company's workers.

In Abu Dhabi he and his family live in an apartment furnished by the company in an ultra-modern apartment house only about two hundred yards from the beach. Abu Dhabi has only about 20,000 population; the city is rapidly being rebuilt -- bulldozers are clearing away the older parts of town to make way for brand new buildings.

Sheikh Zaid Bin Sultan Nayhan is the ruler of the country. Abu Dhabi is still a British protectorate and has little or no armed forces. It borders on Saudi Arabia and has been having a dispute with that country; which claims some of the oil producing areas now belongint to Abu Dhabi.

"The British protectorate is due to end in 1971 and they will pull out then. It is anybody's guess what will happen after they leave," Eixman remarked.

He and his wife and daughter will leave to return to their home in Abu Dhabi on July 19, going to jet to Amsterdam, Rome and Beriut and Abu Dhabi.

RHS Activities

Officers of the Student Council of Rogers High School for 1970-71 are attending the State Student Council workshop at Trinity University in San Antonio July 12 to 17. Miss Karrie Sue Isbell is sponsoring the delegation.

Attending the workshop are Gail Hughling, president; Thomas Green, vice president; Diane Psencik, secretary - treasurer; and Janet Guess, reporter - parliamentarian.

1970-71 will be the sixteenth year Rogers High School has had a Student council. Officers have attended the workshop and conferences every year.

CTCOG Receives Grant For 'Focus On Aging'

The Texas Governor's Committee on Aging has awarded a grant of $11,250 to the Central Texas Council of Governments for planning and development of programs for the aging.

The program will be called Focus on Aging. The funds are part of a nationwide network of State and community programs for the elderly established by Congress in the Older Americans Act of 1965.

The grant will be matched with $3,750 from the Central Texas Council of Governments, which has headquarters in Belton, and will be used to serve the six counties of Mills, Hamilton, Lampasas, Coryell, Bell, and Milam.

The Governor's Committee, chaired by S. R. Greenwood of Temple, has been interested in establishing planning programs for senior Texans on an area-wide basis.

Presently there are local Committees on Aging in each of the 254 counties of Texas, but the Central Texas Council of Governments (CTCOG) is the first area-wide organization to receive a planning grant. They expect to work very closely with the Committees on Aging in their six-county area.

Charles Cass, director of CT COG, stated that there was a real need for programs for the elderly in this area. One of these counties, Mills, has 25% of its total population aged 65 or over, the highest proportion of any county in Texas.

About 9% of the population of the State is 65 and over. There are about 24,000 persons age 65 and over in the six-county area.

The Council of Governments has hired Mrs. Tylee Smith of Killeen as project director. Mrs. Smith has a master's degree in social work and experience in working with senior citizens.

She said, "I am looking forward to working with the older people of Central Texas toward the four goals of this project. We hope to develop more ways for older people to participate in and contribute to the life of their communities.

"At the same time there will be research into some of the problems facing senior citizens in this area. We also want to increase community awareness of both the potentialities and needs of older people. And finally this project will facilitate the exchange of information among, and about, programs and resources for the elderly," she said.

Plans Told For Barnes Dinner

Plans for a statewide dinner honoring Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes in Austin on August 14 were announced today by Dr. Denton A. Cooley of Houston and Mrs. Eugene McDermott of Dallas, co-chairmen of the event.

Funds raised from the $100 a plate tickets will go toward the Lieutenant Governor's campaign for a second term.

Entertainment will be provided by comedian Buddy Hackett and others.

Dr. Cooley and Mrs. McDermott said in a joint statement: "Friends of Ben Barnes from all parts of the state are joining in this coordinated effort to pay tribute to the Lieutenant Governor for his 10 years of past service."

Eggers Raps Governor's Action In Hospital Probe

Republican candidate for Governor Paul Eggers this week questioned Preston Smith's method of handling the allegations of misconduct at the Austin State (Mental) Hospital.

Eggers has been attending a series of campaign Regional Leadership Conferences. The first conference was held Saturday in Dallas followed by Amarillo, Big Spring, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Houston.

The Republican candidate also touched on the governor's decisions in making appointments to important state boards.

A recent investigation at the Austin State Hospital substantiated the misconduct charges made more than a month ago by Austin State Rep. Don Cavness.

"I was disappointed to hear that the investigation report substantiated the allegations made by State Rep. Cavness," Eggers said. "It is my hope now that the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board take prompt corrective action to solve these problems."

Eggers then described Gov. Smith's action "This once again points up the hasty methods used by Gov. Smith to solve problems of state and how he is sometimes forced to retreat from premature decisions," he said.

"Earlier he (Gov. Smith) stated that there was 'no evidence of wrongdoing' at the state hospital. The investigation proved this was not true.

Eggers first touched on Smith's appointment to the Industrial Accident Board. "Remember the case of the weekend qualifier?" he asked. "He was the husband of the Governor's longtime personal secretary who was given a $19,000 - a - year post."

The board supervises the complicated program of workman's compensation benefits for on-the-job accidents. It was set up to have three members-- a wage earner, a practicing attorney and an employer. Smith's appointment was to the employer position, Eggers said.

"The fact that the appointee had never been an employer did not deter our Governor in the least," Eggers said. "Smith's appointee merely resigned his job with one state agency on a Friday, was hired as executive vice president of an Austin printing firm that Saturday and on Monday, now a full-fledged executive, quit that job and took over at the Industrial Accident Board."

Eggers discussed the three Smith appointees to the Board of Psychologists, which was established to license other psychologists for practice in Texas.

Pressure from psychologists, based on the questionable qualifications of the appointees, forced Smith to withdraw his three appointments only two days after he had announced them, Eggers said.

Tips From Tippit

As you put your vehicle through its daily paces, what is likely to be the most dangerous maneuver?

Could it be when you bring the speed up to a mile a minute? Not if you're on an expressway and the 60 miles an hour is your proper speed.

Or is it when you're driving at 25 miles an hour on city streets? Not if you're driving within the posted speed limits and all conditions are vaorable.

Probably the most treacherous driving you're likely to face day after day is when you're backing.

Motor vehicles are designed to place the driver where the action is: up front where he enjoys a wide angle of vision.

So, be careful, because when you drive in reverse, you may be up front but there's no telling when the action may be back in the rear.

CAMERON'S PARADE OF SPORTS

ARROWHEAD HUNTING

Is it a hobby or is it collecting or a sport? Jerry Matula believes it is a combination of all three.

Certainly the miles that are walked searching the fields and gullies for arrowheads requires a lot of physical effort. And of course keeping the arrowheads, cataloging and arranging displays could be called collecting. The hobby part comes from the thrill and excitement of finding an arrowhead made by the Indians, realizing of course, you are probably the first white man to touch it or even see it.

There is also some danger connected with arrowhead hunting, there is always the chance of stepping on a rattlesnake or copperhead. Locating old Indian camp sites and giving them a thorough search is of course, the best place to find arrowheads. The best time to find them is after the fields are plowed and the rain has washed the sand or dirt off the arrowheads.

Mr. Matula has been hunting arrowheads for over 40 years and arrowheads are not all he finds. Drills or awls of flint are sometimes found. Flaking tooks of deer bone used in making arrowheads, beads, pottery and boatstones or stones used as fishing weights. His finds include an old pistol and spurs found in the Port Sullivan area. He also has a number of metates used for grinding maize (or Indian corn).

Some of his choice arrowheads were made from 4000 to 6000 years BC., according to the Texas Archaeology Society. His is indeed an interesting - sport? Hobby? Whichever it is - If you don't like to walk or your patience wears thin easily don't take up arrowhead hunting.

JERRY MATULA, shown with just a very small part of his arrowhead collection.

22 Enter 4-H Dress Revue

By Christine Laws

"Everything Is Beautiful" was the theme for the Milam County 4-H Dress Revue held June 30 at 8 p.m., at the Peace Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall in Rockdale. A total of 22 4-H'ers entered this event.

The group was divided into four divisions. Beginners were under 12 years of age by January 1st. Juniors were between the ages of 12-13 years of age by January 1st. Senior-Teens were 14 years of age by January 1st with less than three years of Club work. Seniors were 14 years of age with three or more years of club work.

Each girl made the garment she wished. The construction of the garments, the record books, and how the garment looked on the girl were the areas judged.

Garments ranged from playsuits and scooter skirts to pantsuits, sundresses, and school dresses to knit dresses and coats and capes.

The placings were as follows: BEGINNERS: Nan Noak of Rockdale, 1st place; Priscilla Lamere of Minerva, 2nd, Martha Garza of Rockdale, 3rd and Blue ribbon, Angie Garza of Rockdale.

JUNIOR DIVISION: Carolyn Helpert of Burlington 1st, Josephine Jones of Griffin Chapel 2nd, and Rosemary Ehler of St. Anthony, 3rd.

SENIOR - TEEN DIVISION: Dandra Dykes of Griffin Chapel 1st, Sandra Cobb of Countywide 2nd, Charlotte Rosemond of Maysfield 3rd, and Red ribbon, Gwendolyn Malone of Gause.

SENIOR DIVISION: Peggy Stephens of Rockdale 1st, Viola Lamere of Minerva 2nd, Belinda Helpert of Burlington 3rd. Blue ribbons went to Connie Cone of Minerva, Judy Helpert of Burlington, Paula Fleming of Countywide, and Naomi Brown of Minerva. Red ribbons were awarded to Cathy Garza, Josie Garza and Deborah Stephens of Rockdale, and Jane Helpert of Burlington.

Judges for this event were Mrs. I. N. Hughes and Mrs. Coleman Kelley of Cameron, Mrs. Robert Foster of Branchville, Mrs. Dudley McDaniel of Minerva, and Mrs. James Petty of Rockdale.

Gifts to the three top girls in each division were donated by the following merchants: J. C. Penney, Culpeppers, Ben Franklin, Duke & Ayers, Schiguits, Bernices, McIntosh's, Duseks, and Irvings.

Miss Peggy Stephens served as Mistress of Ceremonies and Jane Helpert gave the welcome. Narrators were Paula Fleming and Belinda Helpert. Connie Cone expressed the appreciation of the 4-H'ers. Ribbons and gifts were presented by the Ass't County Agent and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schuetze.

Decorations consisted of flowers, greenery, white picket fence and arch, and fabric draping. Hosts for this event were Rufus Lamere and Larry Cone of Minerva, Donald Fleming of Countywide, and Leroy Stephens of Rockdale. Rosemary Ehler was in charge of registration. Refreshments and decorations were done by the 4-H girls and adult leaders.

Peggy Stephens and Carolyn Helpert will represent Milam county at the District 8 4-H Dress Revue in Stephenville on July 23.

Scholarship Available At TSTI

WACO

A $400 scholarship has been made available for a student wishing to study seed processing technology at the Texas State Technical Institute this fall.

Funds for the scholarship, to be known as the W. R. "Bob" Poage Scholarship, were donated by the Texas Seedsmen's Association and the Texas Certified Seed Producers. The two groups have set aside a total of $1,000 for scholarships this fall.

The program is offered only on the James Connally Campus of TSTI. Other campuses in the multi-campus technical school will not offer the course this fall.

Program chairman for seed processing technology, Robert Loe, said the money can be used for tuition, room, board and other student expenses. Professor Loe asked that incoming students interested in the program should contact him before August 15.
